

Dear Four Semester and Six Semester Students:

California is experiencing a critical shortage of professionals in public child welfare holding a master's degree in social work (MSW). In an attempt to ameliorate this shortage, the University of Southern California (USC) Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work is participating in a workforce development initiative for graduate social work students who are interested in the field of public child welfare. The goal of this program is to produce social workers who will secure employment and embark on a career working with children and families involved with the child protection system.

In support of this effort, a stipend of $18,500 for one academic year is being offered to students whom upon completion of their MSW degree, commit to work at the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services for a minimum of one calendar year.

Public child welfare work demands the highest level of professional skills and knowledge to preserve, support and strengthen families, and to protect children. The move to professionalize public child welfare programs is one we - at the USC Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work - enthusiastically participate in and wholeheartedly support.

Please review the information sheet on page two (2) of this document which explains the stipend requirements. Please be aware that if you are awarded a stipend, you will be required to be in the Department of Children, Youth and Families. In addition, the stipend requires a genuine interest in the field of public child welfare, and a commitment to work for the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services upon graduation. You must also pass a criminal clearance background check, have no felony convictions, including DUI convictions, pass a psychological evaluation and also pass an interview with DCFS staff in order to qualify. Lastly, if you are awarded the stipend, you will need to attend a two-day orientation and a one-day contract signing orientation - all tentatively scheduled during the first week of August of 2022. You must sign the agreement before the stipend award is released. In addition, if you are awarded the stipend, you will need to attend a training on the "Core Concepts for Trauma-Informed Child Welfare Practice". This training has been designed specifically to prepare MSW students for trauma-informed child welfare practice.

The application deadline is Friday, May 27th, 2022 by 5 pm. Please note that any applications received after the deadline will not be considered even if the application was received by the student after the deadline.

You can email your completed application to: watersro@usc.edu

Students selected will be contacted for an interview that will be conducted virtually at this time. Interviews are held on a rolling basis. Applicants who do not qualify for the interview round will be notified via email.

Virtual Academic Center: Due to the strict contract requirements and attendance at specialized academic courses and field practicum expectations, VAC students are not eligible for this stipend program.

- Students receiving the LA DCFS stipend must reside in the state of California.
- Students must attend the University Park Campus location and be a full-time second year student, or a six-semester student entering the third year of their program.

If you have any questions or concerns, please email Prof. Debra Waters-Roman at watersro@usc.edu.

ESSAY QUESTIONS

Name of Applicant: _____

Date: _____

Please type your responses to the following questions on separate sheets of paper. Don't forget to add your name to your responses. Your responses are neither right nor wrong but will serve as a means of assessing the fit between you and public child welfare work. Your answers to each question should be no less than half a page and no more than two (2) pages in length- single or double-spaced.

1. Describe your understanding of what work in a public child welfare setting entails. In what ways have your prior experiences prepared you for working in a public child welfare agency? What interests you about public child welfare work and makes you think you would like to focus your education and career in this area?
2. Maria and Carlos are ages 4 and 6. They lived with their parents until their maternal grandmother called the child abuse hotline telling them that she suspected her son-in-law of inappropriate sexual contact with her grandchildren when her daughter (the mother) was at work during the evening hours. When interviewed, the children kept changing their story. The father vehemently denies any abuse ever happened. Because the grandmother has never approved of their marriage, the children's mother believes the father. The children were temporarily placed in the grandmother's home rather than in foster care. Discuss the issues and dynamics that would be relevant in working with each of the family members. How does this case impact you and your belief system?
3. In what ways do people become involved in the public child welfare system? If this happened to you or a member of your family, how would you respond? What are the similarities and differences between you and the clients with whom you will interact?
4. The environment of a public child welfare agency will require you to demonstrate flexibility, self-advocacy, and effective communication skills. How do you see yourself utilizing these skills at the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services?
