

LAW, SOCIAL JUSTICE AND DIVERSITY

The Law, Social Justice and Diversity graduate certificate is designed for those who seek to learn more about the intersection of law and social justice.

The USC Suzanne Dworak-Peck School of Social Work and USC Gould School of Law offer a residential graduate certificate in Law, Social Justice and Diversity that explores the legal frameworks and regulations around social work and social justice in the United States.

What is the Law, Social Justice and Diversity certificate at USC?

Students will learn the fundamental concepts of social justice and diversity, explore the history and development of common law in the U.S., acquire fluency in legal terminology to read and analyze legal provisions, statutes, and case law effectively. Additionally, students will gain an understanding of where legal issues may arise, how to assess these issues using legal framework and how to respond to these issues in real-world social work settings.

The Law, Social Justice and Diversity certificate is available to Master of Social Work students, Master of Studies in Law students and graduate students or employed professionals from other disciplines.**
